

BOILER HOUSE PRESS

UEA Publishing Project - Office MUS1.02 - Interdisciplinary Institute for the Humanities
University of East Anglia
Norwich NR4 7TJ

IDEAL FOR INSTITUTIONAL USE

TEXTUAL NON SENSE

Even before publication, this volume has been adopted as a set text by the following writers' groups, regiments, universities, and other institutions:

Brexit University
The Creative Rifles
UC, Bodega Bay
UC, Sinkhole
University of Talisker
University of Laphroaig
Glenmorangie College
Hay on Wye Dentists' Writers' Guild
South Morningside Parlour Latinists
High Wycombe Chair Museum Creative Writing Alliance
UCST
The University of the Damned
The National Academy of Literary Advances
Vermont Poetry Boot Camp
Chipping Campden Society for Short Stories about Dogs
The 08.17 to Colchester Reading Group and many others

"As one of the most outstanding students of my generation, I found this book essential reading. But I was surprised to see that it also appealed to markedly less bright students of English, Creative Writing, and Cultural Theory. I truly believe that Textual Non Sense has the potential to appeal across the widest spectrum of talents."

– Hercules Snoot, 2nd-year, Trinity

"I made Textual Non Sense a set text for all my classes, and noticed an immediate 20% rise in the pass rate."

– Dr V Blunt, Director of Teaching, Thumper Liberal Arts Campus

"So inspirational that I have scored much of it for timpani and trombone!"

– Jess Postlethwaite, student, features editor, novelist and composer

"Full of helpful tips and amusing antidotes, this book is nothing less than an antholothropology of good practice."

– James Drunk, Poet and Dismissed Professor